

Chemically Modified Electrodes

Kenneth L. Brown
 Assistant Professor
 Chemistry
brownk@hope.edu

B.S., Oral Roberts University, 1993
 Ph.D., Oklahoma State University, 1999

Areas of expertise: Electroanalytical Chemistry, Chemically Modified Electrodes, and Sensor Development.

Grants. CRUI: A Multidisciplinary Test of Mutualistic Benefits Fungal Endophytes Provide Their Host Plants, 2004-2008.

Publications.

Brown, K.L.; Pinter, J.S.; Ewing, K.L.; Ruch, T.R.; Ambrose, M.; Hesslesweet, I.* Amperometric Detection of Glucose Involving Electropolymerized Tetraamino-phthalocyanine and Ferrocene Films. Analytical Letters, 2005, 38, 769-780.

* Denotes student co-authors

Electropolymerization of Tetraaminophthalocyanine with Ferrocene

Before

After

unmodified

modified

