

Students in Ed. 225, Exceptional Child demonstrate their understanding of using technology systems through group and individual presentations. They show proficiency in the use of input and output devices and solve routine hardware and software problems.

