

Absenteeism and Tardiness

All employees are normally expected to work the full amount of their scheduled assigned daily work shift. If for any reason you will be late or absent from work, it is your responsibility to notify your immediate supervisor before the workday begins. Should the absence be for more than one day, the employee is expected to continue to apprise his/her supervisor of the situation.